ELLENDALE HITS LINE WITH 75 FINE RECRUITS

Dr. Thomas Anxious That His Company Be Included in the "Smashing Second"

A hundred members of Co. H, Jamestown, arrived in two special coaches attached to No. 7 this afternoon and were immediately transferred to Ft. Lincoln, where arrangements had been made for their accommodation. About 80 other members of the company remain on guard duty between Fargo and Valley City. Every company in the Second battalion now is quartered at Lincoln, where there are 500 troops stationed.

Commissions for the Second regiment filed today with the adjutant general were:

Frank White, Valley City, to be colonel.

T. H. Thorsaldson, Grafton, to be lieutenant-colonel.

C. F. Mudgett, Valley City, to be major.

J. M. Hanley, Mandan, to be major.

C. E. Geary, Jr., Fargo, to be major.

F. C. Whelan, Minot, to be major.

Infirmary

Thomas J. Strong, Williston, and J. R. McKenzie, Carrington, to be first

C C Hibbs, Bismarck, to be first lieutenant dental corps.
H. G. Markley, Hamilton, to be chaplain.
Frederick G Neumier, Bismarck, to be battalion adjutant, ranking first lieutenant.
Earl R Saries, Hillsboro, to be captain, regimental adjutant.

It is announced that R. Macdonald of Valley City, an employee of Major Mudgett's bank, and who served with the North Dakota troops, is to be battalion adjutant to Major Mudgett. He has not been commissioned, but his appointment has been recommended. Lieutenant Newmier, it is understood, will be battalion adjutant to Major Hanley of Mandan.

Ellendale Full.

Dr. H. E. Thomas of Ellendale was busy on long distance last evening, much perturbed because his town has not appeared in the list of cities which have reported panics. Ellendale, he announced, has enlisted 75 of the finest fellows in North Dakota, and it very much desires to be in the Smashing Second. He was assured that a place had been reserved for Ellendale.

Lieut.-Col. Tharaldson and Lieutenant Neumier are back at the capitol today, after a several days' conference with the governor. Colonel White is expected to take up his temporary headquarters here, and henceforth things will move rapidly in the Second.

Military Men Coming.

Governor Frazier returned this afternoon from a several days' stay in the eastern part of the state. Col. J.

H. Fraine of the First regiment, Capt. E. R. Series of Hillsboro and other military men are expected in this evening for an important conference.

Has Dakota a Brigade?

In military parlance, anything over a regiment constitutes a brigade. Necessarily, therefore, North Dakota should have a brigadier. If it does it will be more stars for Col. John H. Fraine, ranking colonel of the national guard Fraïne's elevation will mean a general advancement in the First, which will make Lieut Col Grafton first in command, and by which Major Frank Henry of Bismarck will become lieutenant colonel and the First come lieutenant-colonel; and the first will have two new majors instead of one in the person of Major B. C. Boyd of Hillshoro, succeeding Major G. A. Fraser of Fargo, now adjutant general.

BISMARCK AND STANTON ENJOY AN EVEN BREAK

800 Fans Witness Two Unusually Thrilling Games on Local Diamond

MERCER METROPOLIS IS STILL ONE TO THE GOOD

Bismarck 113 Stanton 91
Eight hundred enthusiastic baseball fans, keeled to a ten pitch contest, good baseball and fine baseball weather witnessed yesterday afternoon two of the best and most exciting games that have ever been played on the new Athletic club grounds. When the game was called at 2:30 it found the bleachers filled the grand stand crowded and every available inch of space back of the foul lines taken up with fans. It was a holiday crowd in a holiday mood and under such inspiration Bismarck and Stanton got away on the tops of their toes and they played baseball every minute of the thrilling doubleheader.
The sixth with Shanley's smashing homer that drove in two men ahead of him followed by a brief ascension upon the part of the visitors allowing two others to scamper home, saved the first game for Bismarck, although the game was actually won by two well earned runs in the eighth up to which time the Champs margin was too small for comfort. Shanley's homer was not only timely, but it was the first four bagger driven out on the home held this season, and Tom had just preceded it with a three-sacker in the fifth.
Brown, on the mound for the visitors, was wild in the first game distributing five passes. Christie showed his usual good control passing only one man.

The second game was harder fought all the way through. Both teams had settled down to steady work. An other of the home's pitchers was in the box to start and he pitched a good ball game, but the base an albs. were in line to the in spite of being thrown out on the ground. 24,000,000 MEN AT WAR, SAYS EXPERT

Gen. Sir William Robertson Gives Graphic Facts About Present Struggle.

DEATH TOLL IS APPALLING

British in France Fired 200,000 Tons of Ammunition in Five or Six Weeks—How Transportation Difficulties Are Overcome.
London.—Gen. Sir William Robertson in a speech recently gave a graphic impression of some of the extraordinary aspects of the present war. It has become merely trite to observe that the war has now completely overshadowed every other occupation and interest in the world, but the extent to which it has done this is suggested in a most forcible way by some figures which General Robertson employed.
In the armies of all the belligerents, he said, there are now 24,000,000 men, which excludes the great civilian armies behind the front; in the Franco-Prussian war the total of all casualties was less than 500,000, while in this war the killed alone can be counted by the million.
"During the past five or six weeks we have, I suppose," said General Robertson, "expended some 200,000 tons of ammunition, which has had to be moved by road, rail and sea from the factories in England to the guns in France and man-handled probably not less than half a dozen times."
Great Transportation Task.
Two hundred thousand tons of ammunition means rather more than 10,000 carloads as measured by the miniature freight cars commonly loading about twelve tons that are used in England. General Robertson didn't suggest, but any railroad manager with whom one talks will promptly make good the omission, that the mere transportation of this one item of war supplies at a time when freight cars have been sent to France by the thousand constitutes a terrific drain on the country's capacity to move things.
To transport ammunition is a particularly delicate and dangerous business and it is only because of splendid organization and high efficiency among railroad employees that there have been so very few accidents and practically no real disasters as incidents to this service. General Robertson paid a special tribute to the men who have organized and carried on this branch of war work.
Comparing the scale and scope of the present war with former struggles, General Robertson was particularly interesting and impressive. He observed that the greatest peculiarity of the present war is in the colossal numbers of men employed at the front. As a matter of fact, he omitted to emphasize his figures by observing that the great proportion of the civil population immediately engaged in work for the support of the army is quite as impressive a peculiarity of this struggle.
A Warfare of Machinery.
It is a warfare of machinery and mechanisms, many of them new and heretofore almost untried. These have required to be produced, to be tested and to have great bodies of men trained for using them.
Comparing the present war with that of 1870 between Germany and France, General Robertson observed that "in the 1870 war armies were counted by the hundred thousand, and at the battle of Gravelotte, where the heaviest losses were incurred, the total casualties were only about 33,000 men on both sides, while for the whole war the total casualties of both sides were less than half a million.
"In the present war the killed alone can be counted by the million, while the total number of men engaged amounts to nearly 24,000,000. In fact, this war is not, as in the past, a war merely of opposing armies, but a war of nations, and there is not today a man or woman in the empire who is not doing something either to help or to hinder the winning of the war. A man of great distinction told me the other day that he estimated the weight of purely military effort at only 25 per cent of the whole, the remaining 75 per cent being, strictly speaking, of a nonmilitary nature, and made up of many elements—agriculture, food, shipping, diplomacy, etc. I think he is probably not far wrong, and when people ask me, as they sometimes do, how the war is getting on, I feel inclined to reply, 'Why ask me? Why not ask yourself and the remainder of the 75 per cent?'"
Allies Outnumber Enemy.
General Robertson's figure of 24,000,000 as the number of men actually engaged in the military operations is probably based on as good information as any man in the world possesses. The British general staff knows all about the armies of the entire countries, and knows all that anybody outside Berlin and Vienna knows about those of the central powers.
He didn't suggest how the numbers are now divided between the two sides, but it is very certain that the entente nations decidedly outweigh their enemies in mere numbers. The Germanic powers on the other hand, have the great advantage of shorter lines and easier communications. With Russia comparatively inactive, it is not at all certain that the weight of numbers is now very decidedly in favor of the entente peoples. But the weight of machinery is decidedly to their advantage.
In this connection there has been some intimation in Petrograd recently of the possibility that Japan might be called upon in some fashion to take a more active part in the struggle.
The first suggestion of this sort

FIRST WOMAN RAILROADERS IN AMERICA

TAKING PLACES OF MEN IN REPAIR SHOPS.

The railroads, like every other industry, have to confront the possibility of the men being called away to fight, and they are preparing to replace the men with women.
Already this work of filling the gaps left by the fighting men is holding the attention of all railroad men. The photograph shows the first women to be employed by an American railroad in their operating service. They are employees of the Baltimore & Ohio system at Lorain, O., where the company handles its largest lake coal and ore traffic.
They are holding various positions in the shops. The four in the picture wearing overalls are connected with the locomotive and car repair shops. The others, reading from left to right, fill the positions of oilhouse superintendent, blacksmith's helper, yard cleaner, clerk in the shop office and assessor of small supplies and scrap material.

which came from Russia was in a brief dispatch saying the government had categorically denied persistent rumors that Japan might be employed to bring pressure against Russia with the purpose of convincing Russia that it would be highly undesirable for her to repudiate her obligations to her allies. Such a suggestion of course would be most unfortunate, and the denial from Petrograd is unquestionably absolutely correct, according to the best authorities here.
World's Greatest Reserve.
But while the employment of Japanese force as an argument with Russia is quite unthinkable there has been a renewal of the suggestion that Japan's magnificent army might yet require to be employed in some way in the European field. It represents the greatest reserve of completely prepared military force that ever stood behind an active military campaign in the world. If there were only means of moving it Japan could readily and quickly put 2,000,000, or if necessary 4,000,000, soldiers into the field.
To move any considerable proportion of such a force even into the nearest fighting areas by water is a ridiculous impossibility at this time. But there has been serious discussion, I am told, at some of the recent conferences among allied leaders of the possibility of bringing Japanese soldiers to Europe by way of the Transiberian railway. Today this would necessitate an immense expansion of the carrying capacity of that route.
A very large part of it has now been double-tracked, and if it shall be recognized by the end of this year that the war is likely to continue several years the further development of Transiberian tonnage capacity might be found feasible and even necessary.
One thing is certain and that is that on neither side is there at present any such prejudice as formerly existed against introducing Asiatics and Africans upon the European battlefields.
The conception of this war as a war of the whole world has been strengthened very greatly since the beginning of the present year. It is looked upon by the western powers now as everybody's war, a war in which everybody has not only an interest but a duty to perform. That conception has affected the attitude of remote and detached peoples to a striking extent. For example, among tribes in Africa which would not be presumed to know anything about what is happening in Europe it is said that there is a very considerable interest and a desire to help the western nations.

TOBACC HABIT EASILY OVERCOME

A New Yorker, of wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and quickly banished with delightful benefit. The author, Edward J. Woods, 1423 M. Station E, New York City, will mail his book free on request.
The health improves wonderfully after tobacco craving is conquered. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. Get rid of that nervous, unstable feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette, snuff or chewing tobacco to pacify morbid desire.

HABIT

THERE was once a small boy with a clever mother. She said "Henry, promise me you'll brush your teeth every night just before you take off your shoes. That'll remind you."

"Sure, I promise," said Henry, "pretty soon it'll be summer and then I'll go barefoot."

Summer came, and Henry went barefoot. But he kept right on brushing his teeth—not only at night but in the morning and after each meal.

The habit clung—maybe because Henry liked the clean, cool tang of S. S. White Tooth Paste—a clean, pure white cleanser, made on sound dental principles.

GERMAN SPIES. OPERATE HERE ON LARGE SCALE

Washington, July 5.—Washington officials who for obvious reasons cannot be quoted, declared today that if the government activities against German spies in the United States could be published the news would startle the world. While not admitting they are not convinced the spy system was responsible for the missed attack on General Pershing's expedition, it was said the combined forces of all departments were working in cohesion in unearthing information of great value to the government.

LET AMERICANS OF GERMAN PARENTAGE FIGHT SAYS KAHN

New York, July 5.—Suggestions that persons of German birth or parentage be not sent to the firing line in the war against Germany, but be given non-combatant work instead, were denounced as insulting to them, in an Independence Day address here today before Tammany Hall by Representative Julius Kahn of California, who said he himself was born in Germany, and resented "this attempt to put men like myself in the attitude of claiming divided allegiance."

Mr. Kahn, who is ranking republican of the house military committee, is said to be the only republican in public life ever invited to address Tammany.

"Persons high in authority have repeatedly asserted that we entered the war for the benefit of humanity and in the interest of democracy," Mr. Kahn said. "Because I believed in the protection of American lives, the safeguarding of American property and the maintenance of American honor and prestige. These are the principles for which I am ready to fight. In fighting for these things, incidentally we fight for humanity and democracy."

"Such a practice as excepting those of Teutonic origin," he said, "is unthinkable. Furthermore, it is absolutely ridiculous. It is an insult to the intelligence of the persons it would keep out of the trenches; it is equivalent to saying to them: 'You may make bullets, but others must fire them.'"

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES HELD FOR JAMESTOWN'S POPULAR BANK CHIEF

Jamestown, N. D., July 5.—Impressive funeral services were conducted here Monday over the remains of the late Michael Murphy, 60, president of the Farmers & Merchants State bank of Jamestown and pioneer resident who passed away at a Fargo hospital Friday evening. Rev. Fr. Loughery officiated at the services, which were held at St. James Catholic church. Interment was made at the Calvary cemetery here.

The late Mr. Murphy was one of the most prominent and wealthy men in this state and hundreds of friends from all sections of this state and others attended the funeral. The funeral procession was one of the longest ever witnessed in this city.

WALL STREET BISHOP QUILTS

Famous Street Preacher Placed on Retired List by the Trinity Corporation.

New York.—"The bishop of Wall street" has held his last service in his open-air cathedral at the corner of Broad and Wall streets, with its pavement of asphalt and its ceiling of sky. In other words, the Rev. Dr. William Wilkinson, friend of millionaires and office boys in the financial district and holder of noon-day services there for many years, has been retired by Trinity corporation, whose missioner he has been.

The crowds of rich men and poor who fill the canyon of Wall street at lunch hour will miss the stocky, white-haired figure who preached the Gospel in the heart of what the major part of the nation has come to regard as a den of wickedness.

He has enjoyed the reputation of being the highest paid street preacher in the world. From Trinity he received a salary of $5,000 a year. No one will ever know how much of this "the bishop" expended on himself, but the poor will tell that he has always been open-handed and has never withheld his aid when money was needed to keep a home together.

He was a close friend of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, who often went to his house.

SMOKE MORE AND EAT LESS

Latest Advice Given to British People in the Food Shortage Situation.

London.—"Smoke more and eat less!"

This is the latest advice given to the British people in the food shortage situation. It comes from Sir John Rees, who says:

"It is to be hoped that the increased tobacco duty will not reduce the quantity. The less people smoke the more they are liable to eat. It is well known that the grossest eaters are non-smokers and non-smokers."

This advice refers to women as well as men, for the smoking habit has spread widely among women since the war started. Formerly women smoked only in their homes or in restaurants. Now they can be seen in the streets and in factories puffing away at pipes, mild cigars or cigarettes.

Arrests of women for smoking in munition factories became so common that the magistrates had to impose severe penalties to break it up.

BEN S. BOYCE

The Indianapolis Times, of which W. D. Boyce is publisher, has raised a company of soldiers and presented it to the Indiana national guard. But Boyce's son (Ben, 31), has enlisted in the regular artillery. No Times employees sought commissions with the company the paper raised.

Bank Bandits Steal $1,000 But Posse Corral Them

Aberteen, S. D., July 4.—With revolvers drawn, two masked bandits entered the Conde State bank, 20 miles south of here, locked the cashier and stenographer in the vault and then escaped from the building with between $5,000 and $7,000. In a running fight with posess both men were captured. One giving the name of Frank McBride was shot twice through the stomach and once through the right arm. It is believed that he is mortally wounded.

The other gave the name of Louis Miles. He surrendered after he had been surrounded by a posse of citizens. Both men have been taken to Redfield, McBride going to the hospital and Miles to the county jail.

FARGO WOMAN MAY DIE AS RESULT OF INJURIES IN AUTOMOBILE SMASH

Fargo, N. D., July 5.—One person was injured, probably fatally, and three others suffered severe bruises as a result of an automobile spill one mile north of Moorhead last night. Mrs. Mary McIntyre of Fargo is expected to live and up to a late hour had not regained consciousness. Her skull is fractured, her left clavicle broken and the humerus bone near the left shoulder joint fractured.

Everett Tordoff, foreman for the Ford Motor Sales company of Fargo, was badly bruised. Mrs. Sena Irenden of Moorhead suffered bad injuries about the head. All three patients are in the Northwestern hospital at Moorhead.

700 SOLDIER BOYS DISAPPOINTED IN FOURTH PIN MONEY

Pensions Run $3,000 Over Appropriation—Emergency Commission Will Act

Seven hundred North Dakota soldier boys who expected spending money for the Fourth in checks up to $80, representing pensions at $10 the month for time spent on the Mexican border, were disappointed yesterday because the state appropriated only $7,000 for this purpose and under the act which became effective July 1 the pensions due total $5,000. The emergency commission will be expected to make up the $3,000 deficit. A meeting of this body probably will be held tomorrow. In the meantime all vouchers are being held up, pending the possible necessity of a readjustment.

WILL LONGER SUCCEED HANLEY ON THE BENCH?

Though the resignation of J. M. Hanley as judge of the Twelfth district has not been filed, the fact that Governor Frazier has signed his commission is considered prima facie evidence that he will accept command of the First battalion in the Second regiment, and that a successor on the bench is to be named. That this successor may be William Langer, the attorney general, is current gossip about the capitol.

The law office with which Langer is associated has had a monopoly on district judges in the Twelfth. Samuel L. Nuchols, who resigned the judgeship when Governor Hanna named Hanley, exchanged positions with the latter. Later Langer entered upon a partnership with Nuchols. That certain chiefs of the league might welcome Langer's transfer to the district bench is more than rumored.

WHAT NORTH DAKOTA BOYS WILL SEE

of battleship graveyard, and its passengers are Australian soldiers. There's a drainage system, water supply with miles and miles of pipe, public watering troughs and drinking fountains, and wooden sidewalks. Tommy has named some of the streets, and stuck up signs to enlighten transients. In various sections he has given this city a great number of Leicester squares, and at least 47 Piccadillys. When you get over there will probably also be Broadways and Fifth avenues.

There are plenty of more useful street signs, too. They read: "Walking Wounded This Way," "Road closed to Lorries," "Ambulances Only," "To the Baths," "This Way to Cinema," "This Bridge Takes Field Guns," "Warning! Road Under Shell Fire," "Drive Slow to Avoid Raising Dust," "Next Turning for the Y. M. C. A."

Yes, the city boasts a Y. M. C. A., which means also a public library, billiard room and concert hall. It also has a movie show, and a football field. There's a hospital of course, and a garage or two, not to mention the officers' clubs, and tea rooms and canteens.

Remember this was all empty country a year ago, or was somewhere behind the German lines. This straggling boom town has sprung by magic out of country fields and upon the ruins of wrecked villages. With all the permanent, thriving activities of city life, its location is ephemeral. It doesn't stay still long. It's a one-way town always moving forward. And its ultimate destination, Tommy and Sammy hope, is to substitute itself for the suburbs of Berlin!

Another article from Correspondent Payne telling what Bismarck soldiers will find at the front will be published in an early issue of The Tribune.

Traffic Tread

Tread design perhaps has little influence on your choice of tires. Yet efficient skid prevention is a big advantage.

Federal Rugged (white) and Traffic (black) non-skid treads were not designed for good looks, but for good traction and safety. And they are genuinely efficient.

They embody the best tire construction that a great plant and years of experience can produce. Equip your car with these "Extra Service" Tires. They cost much less per season.

GETTING ACQUAINTED.
United States today is rubbing elbows with the world more intimately than ever before in its history. The aloofness bred of the Monroe doctrine has been more or less unbending, until it became necessary for America to join hands with the Old World in this fight to preserve democracy.

One of our most delicate tasks is to impress upon Japan that she, too, is accepted wholeheartedly as an ally. It has been recognized by many leaders and publicists that our supreme struggle would be against the Little Brown Brother, if not for the preservation of an open door in China, ultimately for the control of the Pacific itself.

The New York Evening Post recognizes the significance of the new alliance with Japan. It commemorates the visit of the first Japanese commission to our shores by publishing a Japanese supplement.

A new era in our relations with the Nipponese has dawned. The event is fittingly recorded by the Post, which has done probably more than any journal in the United States to stimulate a sympathetic treatment of our relations with Japan, too often strained by the jingoist and yellow press, twin brothers of destruction.

Let us hope that history will confirm the optimism of the Post in its treatment of our ally, Japan.

War so spurred up Englishmen that hereafter England will be independent as to Germany's potatoe. Watch Uncle Sam do that same trick!

OUR FIGHTING FRIENDS FIRST.

The agreement reached with the operators in bituminous coal, under which consumers will get coal at the mine price, plus cost of transportation and 25 cents per ton commission, naturally makes prominent the question as to fuel conditions amongst our allies.

Cold, rather than hunger, was the chief horror borne by the people of France and Italy, last winter, and tremendous increase of suffering must come next winter unless something is done at once. England can furnish France and Italy sufficient coal, but her difficulty is to ship it across the channel. She can make the passage safely, but she hasn't the ships, and is losing ships every day; hence it would seem that America must be largely depended upon to remove the deficiency. Here comes in our question of steel ships or wooden ships. To help in transporting fuel across the English channel, we have got to supply a lot of ships at the earliest possible moment, as Jack Frost waits for nobody. It is certain that we can turn out wooden cargo ships much more rapidly than we can steel ships.

Again, the European neutrals, now so anxious about President Wilson's export plans, are importing American stuff in American ships, thus saving their own merchant fleets from U-boat dangers and reserving them for competition with American trade ships, after the war. Compelling these neutrals to put their own fleets into transatlantic service would release American ships for that transatlantic fuel service. Why should our ships run the U-boat gauntlet when they might be safely supplying France and Italy with the all-necessary fuel?

IT IS FINE.
And now the Red Cross fund has been over-subscribed by millions! In almost no time, the people came forward and subscribed a fund for relief of the world's suffering unequaled in history. Children and grown-ups, rich and poor, white and black, people of all creeds and nationalities have promptly backed the cause of world-wide democracy with world-wide charity, and it is really the most tremendous thing among all the great events of the war.

But it is not the final demonstration of what is in the heart of the people. It by no means sizes up their willingness and determination. If the war continues for long, great popular sacrifices will be necessary. They will be met.

In the past your potatoes advanced 149 per cent in price. Watch the home gardens knock the everlasting daylight out of such gougers!

NO WHITEWASH FOR ENGLAND.
One of the most interesting things about this war has been the manner in which England has faced the grim and bitter truth about her disasters. Every time there was evidence that someone had greatly blundered, resulting not only in the loss of a campaign, but in the useless throwing away of lives and treasure, there has been a searching investigation.

In each case the responsibility was fixed, the men guilty were named, and the whole report published for the information of the people of the empire. There has been no white-wash bucket.

After the disasters at Gallipoli, a report was issued which fastened the responsibility upon people in very high places. So in the latest report on the first and futile Mesopotamian campaign, which resulted in the ignominious surrender at Kut-el-Amara, the blame is placed not only upon certain generals, but also upon a former viceroy of India and a former member of the British war cabinet.

That is one of the beauties about a real democracy. There is no one so sacred that he must be shielded; no one so powerful that his blunders must be shifted to some scapegoat.

RISE UP TO IT, RUSSIA!

Ambassador Bakhmeteff has stirred up our Senate and House with the declaration that his country will not make a separate peace, "because Russia wants the world to be safe for democracy."

Russia, then, is not for indemnities for annexations, but her war is for world-wide democracy. It is a glorious ideal, all right, but isn't it one so abstract, so far-away that the Russian masses will not rise to it as is hoped? Are the Russian people so far advanced that they will enthusiastically pay, fight and bleed without any selfish interest entering into the issue? Will Russian patriotism rise to the sacrificing, dying temperature unless the people are clearly convinced that, for them, not world-wide democracy, but their own democracy is the paramount issue?

The Russians, with their almost unlimited natural resources, have been held back by commercial isolation and exclusion. A Teutonic empire extending from the Baltic to Persia, the evident ambition of Germany, would make Russia the commercial servant of Germany, with anything like democracy in Russia's trade relations at the mercy of Germany. What would a victorious Kaiser do to a subservient Russia, first thing? For political, commercial and war reasons, he would restore Russian autocracy, as the condition most easily and economically managed.

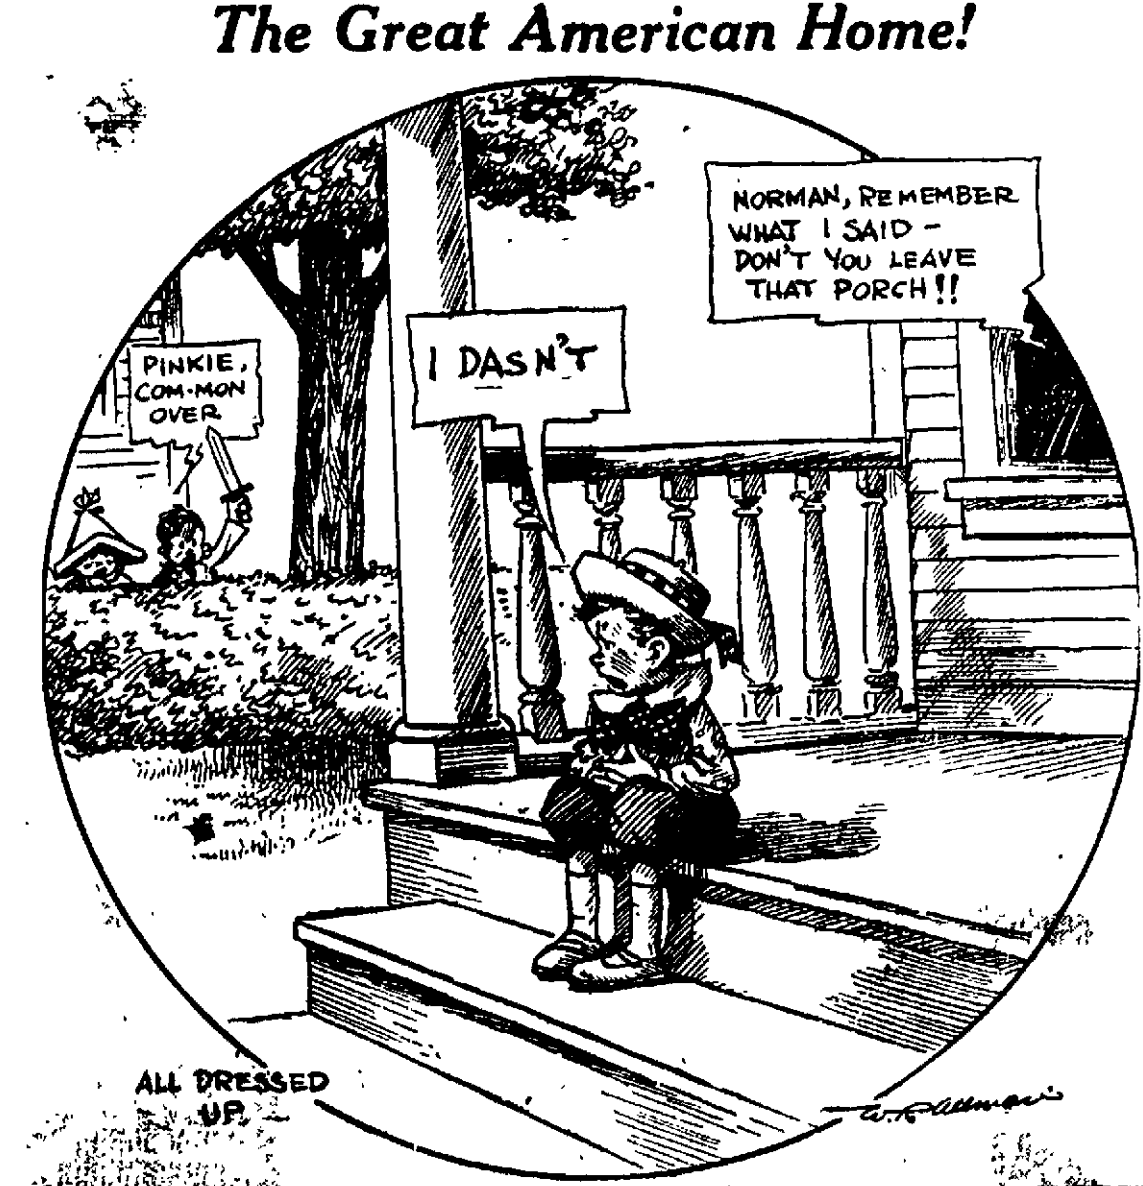

There's no doubt of this. World-wide democracy is a star upon which the Russian masses may well keep their eyes, but Russian democracy must, first, fight Germany for its own life. The pressing issue is right at every Russian democrat's fireside. When the Russians become fully aroused to this fact, we believe that they'll do some heavy fighting.

Of course, M. Bakhmeteff's laudation of our ideals at Washington is right enough. It flatters us, and hurts nobody. But it is to be hoped that when he returns to Russia he "gives 'em the real bell-fire and brimstone," as Rev. Billy Sunday puts it.

HOW TO BE YOUNG AGAIN.

Not for the United States might could we bend our gracious pen in tribute to a grouch, but humanity's gratitude to the ringer of joy bells will not be denied.

To the man who drives along, doing his work with the best that is in him, putting pep and gladness into it, there is coming a good measure of praise. And whether that man is Douglas Fairbanks or Theodore Roosevelt matters not. Just now it happens to be Doug Fairbanks.

amount to as much as one who travels under any other name.

Fairbanks does. It is good for the system to see this man in action. It is good for the disposition. There is in him the energy of a Roosevelt and it is in action every minute. And along with this boundless energy there is always a smile—a smile that is so infectious that it gets into your own system and you feel glad about everything.

You feel as though you could do everything this remarkable actor—and he does some things that but few can do. And what is more, you feel as though you really want to. You feel brimful of pep and zipp and fun.

It is pleasant to pay a tribute to a man who does his work so well—even though he is remarkably well paid for it in good, hard cash. No cash payment in the world can put into a man such pep and such joy as is in this man. That was put there long before cash entered into his young life.

Some day when you are feeling blue and thinking the whole world is going to smash, go and see Douglas Fairbanks. It will be good for what's the matter with you.

WHAT WILL IT PROVE?

Baer's election or rejection in the First Congressional district next Tuesday will not necessarily be a test of the Nonpartisan league's strength in the state. It will prove only that the farmers of that district desire to take another step toward state socialism and endorse in principle at least federal socialism or government ownership of public utilities.

The league, fortunately for Governor Frazier and A. C. Townley, is to have its first ordeal since election in a district always recognized as a stronghold. If Baer fails, it will indicate that the voters of the First district are not prepared to ignore established party lines in national politics.

Mr. Baer, it is reasonable to suppose, will hold the normal democratic vote. It is just possible that Mr. Baer will gather the stray followers of President Wilson, because the name Baer was once identified with democratic politics and further distinguished by democratic patronage.

This leaves the republican vote to be split chiefly between Baer and Furtness, with the odds decidedly in favor of Baer. Governor Frazier and the state machinery are working for Baer. In addition is the league, with its battery of "tin lizzies," each manned by stump speakers, trained in the arts of the hustings.

If the league cannot win an election in Governor Frazier's own district with success of a state election still fresh in the minds of all, the defeat naturally will lessen the prestige of the Nonpartisans, not necessarily a fatal blow, however.

The election of Furtness, of course, is to be desired. Congress recognizes parties in its procedure. Baer's status in Washington would be novel. He adheres to no organized national party. Deceptive as the label, Nonpartisan, is, essentially the league represents party entity as much as the republican, democratic or socialist parties do. Mr. Baer, if elected, will go to Washington as the embodiment of the league's first national victory. His election will make Townley's task of nationalizing the league easier.

SELF-SERVICE GARAGE PLAN

Automobile Owner Can Make Repairs in Separate Compartment—Tools Also Furnished.

The self-service idea has invaded the realm of the garage, says Popular Mechanics. Just as one can enter certain restaurants or groceries and help himself and be charged with what he gets, so now a car owner can take his automobile into one of the separate compartments provided in a Seattle garage, procure tools at the garage office, and do his own repairing. When he has finished he returns the tools to the office and is charged according to the time he has occupied the room and for the tools he has used. These private repair spaces can be locked so that one can safely leave his work and return and finish it later. If a helper is desired, one can be secured at a specified rate.

GOOD ADVICE TO MOTORISTS

Police Commissioner Woods of New York City Says Don't Rely Too Much on Auto Horn.

The precaution enjoined by Police Commissioner Woods of New York City on owners of motor trucks, "Don't allow your driver to rely too much on the horn," might be accepted by motor-car owners generally, to the advantage of all concerned, says Christian Science Monitor. A widespread observance of this direction would afford excellent discipline for the drivers, as well as increased safety for pedestrians, and would mitigate the noise on the city streets.

In these lessons the English phrase appears in the first line, the French equivalent in the second line, and the pronunciation in the third line.

In the pronunciation key, straight lines over the letters, A and U, denote the long sound, as in "hate" and "dude"; curved lines over these letters indicate the short sound, as in "cat" and "but"; two dots over the U indicate a sound somewhat similar to the German "ue," which Americans may approach by trying to pronounce long U and long E at the same time.

TRAINS BY TELEPHONE

Displacing the telegraph, the telephone is to be used for dispatching trains on the entire line of the Southern railway system between Washington and Atlanta, 649 miles.

Between Washington and Spencer, N. C., the telephone is now in use, and authority has just been given for the completion of two copper telephone circuits between Spencer and Atlanta, 314 miles.

First Time-Table.

The first railway time-table history records is that produced by a native of Manchester, Eng., one George Bradshaw, who died in 1853. It was indeed a "time-table de luxe," for, although it had but six pages and was bound in green with gilt lettering, it was a collection of the various notices issued by the railroad companies doing business in England.

Silver Trumpets.

The silver trumpets which Moses was charged to furnish the Israelites were to be used for the calling together of the assembly; for the journeying of camps, for sounding the alarm of war; for celebrating the sacrifices on festivals and new moons (Numbers 10: 1-10).

MANY RAIL WRECKS

Roads Badly Run Down Under Stress of War Service.

TRACK IN POOR CONDITION

For Two Years It Has Been Impossible to Give Trackage any Rolling Stock Necessary Care—Skilled Labor Lacking.

Central Europe's food problems have during recent months been adversely influenced by the fact that slowly the railroads are losing their efficiency and are no longer able to do their share in the distribution of these necessities.

The war has made heavy demands upon the lines, and it has been impossible to give trackage and rolling stock the care they require.

For almost two years now the railroads have been neglected. Thick and the heavy traffic over many of the principal lines due to the war have made the railroad system a mere shadow of what it was formerly.

Tracks in Poor Condition.

Ballasting has been very indifferent, done by old men, boys, women and prisoners of war, with the result that the wear on the ties has been unusually severe, a condition which in its turn has caused a rapid deterioration of the rails and rolling stock.

Lack of skilled labor has prevented the state and private railroads from keeping the rolling stock in good repair. This compelled a lessening in the speed of trains. A reduction of carrying capacity of the roads has also resulted. Locomotives especially are in poor condition. In their case neglect was added to more and heavier service.

It is very doubtful whether in all of central Europe it would be possible to find an engine capable of performing a service with 60 per cent of its former efficiency. This is especially noticeable in cold weather, when the steam issuing from a hundred leaking joints illustrates what per cent of power is derived from the coal burned.

Lines Tied Up by Wrecks.

Hardly a week passes without some wreck. Most of these have been to freight trains, since the sweeping reductions in the speed of passenger trains were made last fall. The fact that the lines are then tied up for hours at a time increases the difficulty of the traffic situation.

Last winter thousands of tons of potatoes and other vegetables were ruined in this manner, trains having to be sidetracked for days in order to clear lines of wrecks and then permit delayed military transports to pass.

The outlook in railroad matters in central Europe is extremely gloomy. Many of the lines must be entirely re-laid with ties and rails before a normal traffic can be conducted over them. While the war lasts this work cannot be done, and with each day the depreciation increases in almost geometrical proportions.

The yards of most railroad centers are clogged with rolling stock which is no longer serviceable. Should the war last another two years central Europe will be obliged to completely re-equip most of its lines.

Will Damage Tires.

Most modern cars are equipped with demountable rims and carry tires inflated on these rims at the rear of the car. This necessitates heavy suspension brackets. Care should be taken that these tires are securely strapped to the frame. Each mounted tire weighs considerable, and if not securely fastened will chafe against the frame and greatly damage the case in a very short time.

SOCIETY

Many Attend Opening of Bismarck Country Club

Nearly 150 guests attended the formal opening of the Bismarck Country Club independence day. The program was carried out most successfully from start to finish.

Under the supervision of a committee of women, composed of Mrs. Robert Orr, chairman, Mrs. E. H. L. Vesperman, Mrs. G. F. Dullman, Mrs. N. O. Dunham, Mrs. Hart Finney and Mrs. Fred Copelin, the picnic supper tendered the members and friends by the officers and directors of the club was a decided success. Assisting the committee were Mrs. C. L. Young, Mrs. H. P. Goddard and Miss Orr. A dancing party from 9 o'clock to 12 supplemented the supper.

Many of the golfers participated in the blind handicap tournament. The gentleman's prize went to Col. C. E. Little and the woman's to Mrs. W. A. Hughes. For the medal score the honors were awarded to L. L. Folsom and Mrs. E. H. L. Vesperman.

Many social events are being planned at the club for the rest of the season.

Nearly 400 Soldiers Were Guests of Women's Auxiliary

Amidst a setting of flowers and the national colors, 325 officers and soldiers stationed at Fort Lincoln were banqueted independence day, in the Masonic temple by the women of the auxiliary to Co. A.

Flags draped the walls of the spacious refectory and the long tables were laden with pink and white carnations, while 25 of Bismarck's fairest young girls were the aids.

At one long table in the main refectory the officers were seated. A large cake, done in red, white and blue, ornamented with the name of Capt. Murphy of Co. A, adorned the center. This elaborate gift to the captain of the first company of North Dakota was presented by Mrs. McCowan, and cut by Capt. Barker, at the request of Capt. Murphy.

Two hundred were seated at the first tables. The other remaining 125 soldiers were entertained by a number of the capital city's musicians and Miss Ruth Butler of Dickinson, a sister of George Butler of Co. K, Mrs. J. P. French and Mrs. J. A. Larson were in charge of the musical program. Much of the success of this part of the program was due to O'Connor's orchestra, which donated its services for the cause. The orchestra played several selections during the seating of the soldiers in the blue lodge room. Soldiers at the fort, numbering fifty, who were unable to attend the feed at the temple, were furnished with dinner at the fort and ten of the guardsmen at Camp Frazier were also remembered.

The twenty-five members of the auxiliary, which is composed of patriotic women of the city, were in direct charge of this great undertaking. They were given the hearty support of the various organizations and individuals of the city. Women of Dickinson and Mandan also contributed. Mrs. Barker, wife of Capt. Barker, Mrs. Roy Butler and Mrs. Jessin of Dickinson came in person to assist the local women. Mrs. Peter Reid and Mrs. John I. Willson were chairmen of the purchasing committee, and Mrs. Henry T. Murphy, of the soliciting committee.

The women wish to thank Theodore Koffel, W. M. of the Masonic Blue Lodge and Frank Everts of the R. A. M. lodge for their assistance in helping to place the tables. Others the women are anxious to remember for their assistance are Philip M. Webb, for the use of his automobile to carry the food to the river; the young girls who were aids; Chief Dugan of the penitentiary, Mrs. French and Mrs. Larson, O'Connor's orchestra, the musicians who furnished the entertainment, the Masons, for the use of the temple and the various organizations and residents of the city who so generously gave the donations.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Brooks were hosts last evening at their home in Eleventh street, at an informal dinner party. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Swenson and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Olson of this city.

Bishop John Foyntz Tyler of the Episcopal church, and sons, John Foyntz, Jr., and V. H. Henry, have gone to Kennebunkport, Me., where they will spend July and August. During their sojourn there, Mrs. Tyler will spend August visiting friends in the east.

Guests for Eastern Guest.
In honor of Miss Margaret McKeevan of Irwin, Pa., who is the guest of Miss Ethel Barnes of Fourth street, the latter entertained a limited number of her friends independence day, at an outing north of the city. Miss Barnes, Miss McKeevan and Mrs. E. C. Wright will be dinner guests of Miss Clara Taitley this evening, at the Grand Pacific, and Miss Barnes will entertain at cards Friday evening, in Miss McKeevan's honor.

A party of Dickinson people, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Butler, daughter, Miss Ruth and two other children. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Drury and Miss Violet Yeger, motored to the capital city, where they spent the fourth. Mr. Butler and family while here visited their son and brother, George Butler, a member of Co. CAPT. MURPHY OF SALVATION ARMY WINS PROMOTION

Capt. Murphy and Mrs. Murphy of the Salvation army have received their "marching orders" and will be transferred from this barracks after a year's successful work here. No official announcement has been made of their new field of work.

Capt. and Mrs. Murphy came to Bismarck in July, 1916, from Devils Lake and since their residence here have strengthened the work of the Salvation army. Under the direction of Capt. Murphy the army band was organized and now is one of the finest of its kind in the state.

Their farewell meetings will be held July 14, 15 and 16. Capt. and Mrs. Murphy's removal from the local army is much regretted by local Salvationists and other residents. Their transfer will mean an opportunity for more extensive work in a larger field and comes as a promotion for Capt. Murphy's excellent work here.

IS TOTTEN SLATED TO SUCCEED FRANK WHITE?

George E. Totten, formerly of Bowman, where he was a clergyman and newspaper publisher, and who was one of Governor Frazier's five appointees to the board of regents whom the senate last winter declined to confirm, arrived in the city this afternoon and proceeded immediately to the capitol, whither the governor had briefly preceded him. The appearance of the former Bowman cleric-editor, in connection with the acceptance by Frank White of Valley City of the command of the Second regiment, has given rise to a rumor that Totten will succeed the former governor on the board of regents. At the governor's office this afternoon Secretary Mason stated that White's resignation as a member of the board had not been filed, and that Totten had not been appointed to succeed White.

"Yes, ma'am," replied little Johnnie Wise. "It's the same size as the bird before it was shot."

Foolish Fellow.
"Would you be angry if I asked you for a kiss?" queried the bachelor.
"You bet I would," replied the modern maid. "The idea of a man wasting so much valuable time in asking for what can be had for the taking."

A Suggestive Slap.
"You are my silvery toned belle," said Sentimental Sammie.
"Huh!" rejoined Practical Pauline. "What is the use of having a bell if you don't ring it?"

Called to the Colors

New York, July 5.—A patriotic costume won a $100 "Liberty Bond for Miss Nephelie Bunnell at the recent automobile fashion show at Sheepshead Bay speedway. Miss Bunnell took her color scheme from the stars and stripes. The red-and-white material went into a smoothly fitted bodice and a flowing skirt while the blue and white was used for a coat lining. A black hat of stunning curves and a swagger sash of black velvet served to emphasize the brilliance of the national colors as a fashion motif.

Fort Yates, N. D., July 5.—Capt. A. B. Welch of Bismarck, who, as a foster son of Chief Justice John Grass is a chieftain of the Sioux nation, delivered the independence day address here to 2,500 red men and practically all of the whites of Sioux county. Captain Welch is recruiting a company for the Second regiment of the North Dakota national guard, and while here he enlisted a number of whites and several Sioux braves.

CHIROPRACTIC BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN SESSION

The state board of chiropractic examiners completed a regular semi-annual session at the McKenzie hotel this week. Members of the board in attendance were Dr. A. O. Henderson of Mandan, president, Dr. S. A. Danford of Bismarck, and Dr. S. D. Reed of Valley City. A number of candidates for licenses were examined.

HAZEN CELEBRATES

Judge A. M. Christianson Principal Orator of Day

Hazen, N. D., July 5.—Hazen's independence day address was delivered by Associate Justice A. N. Christianson of the North Dakota supreme bench. People from all parts of Mercer county attended.

VERY OLD-FASHIONED.

"I'll go to this musical comedy with you if you are sure the chorus will be properly clad," said the model young man.

"Have no fears as to that. I can assure you that this show was produced by a man who has some regard for the proprieties."

"Good!"
"Yes. He won't stand for bare legs. If a chorus girl won't wear tights she can't work for him."

Undoubtedly.
"Yes," observed the party who occasionally thinks aloud, "any man would."

"Any man would what?" queried the emale with the ingrown curiosity.
"Would rather feel his ears than his orms," explained the noisy thinker.

Conflicting Evidence.
Harker—Since spraining his wrist last week, Omar tells me he has lost sense of touch.
Parker—That's queer. He tried to catch me for $10 this morning.

Low Rate.
"Well, stranger, I haven't got the exact figures, but I reckon you can die as cheap here as anywhere in the world."—Detroit Free Press.

A TALENTED PERSON.

"As we grow older our ideas of amusement undergo a radical change," remarked the philosophic man.

"Unquestionably."
"For instance, when I was a small boy, I was chiefly interested in the exhibits that composed a 'Congress of Wonders,' but now the amazing volubility of the speller fascinates me far more than any feature of the show."

Learned by Experience.
"Just because we have different political views is no reason why we shouldn't be friends."

"You are wrong there," answered the contentious man. "As a cause belli there is positively nothing more productive of results than a difference of political opinion."

Sounded Interesting.
"How about the sermon?"
"The minister preached on the sinfulness of cheating at bridge."
"You don't say! Did he mention any names?"

TIT FOR TAT.

The Englishman (on railroad train)—You chaps over here are ruled by a lot of vulgar fellows whom you'd never dream of meeting socially.
The American—And in England you are ruled by a lot of people who would never dream of meeting you socially.

The Searchful Office.
The office sometimes seeks the man. Yet when its search is done, It starts as quickly as it can To seek another one.

Willing to Try It.
"The man who has a great deal of money is seldom satisfied," remarked the commonplace philosopher.

"That may be true," replied the citizen toiler, "but quite often he is merely dissatisfied with his servants, or his motor cars or his game of golf, and I believe I could stand that sort of discontent for awhile."

Looking Forward.
"Have you any watches with waterproof cases?" asked the young man.
"No," replied the jeweler. "What is your object in wanting a waterproof watch?"
"Oh," answered the y. m., "I may have occasion to 'soak' it occasionally."

Playing Safe.
"Are you going to send Gratieligh back to congress this fall?" asked the reporter.

"That's what," replied the rural politician. "We realize that it will be safer for us to have him there than at home."

Days and Nights.
"I suppose," said the literary young man, "that you have read 'The Last Days of Pompeii?'"
"No, I haven't," admitted the fair maid from the back township, "but I've read nearly all of the 'Arabian Nights.'"

WELL! WELL!

The Bald-Headed Man—It used to flatter me when I was young for a barber to ask me if I wanted a shave.

The Tall Chap—Yes?
The Bald-Headed Man—Now he flatters me when he asks if I want a hair cut.

Domestic Criticisms.
His Wife—How forgetful you are, John! Everything I say to you seems to go in at one ear and out at the other.

Her Husband—Yes, and everything you hear goes in at both ears and out at your mouth.

The day of the plain black shoe or other one-color shoe for fashionable styling and summer wear has passed, according to a ruling just made at a conference of Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana shoe dealers.

gaiter with the costumes milady will wear. Cloth is taking the place of leather, and color combinations will be in style.

HANK GOWDY, HERO OF 1914, JOINS COLORS

The first big league ball player has gone to join the colors.

Big, awkward Hank Gowdy, hero of the 1914 world series, first string catcher of the Braves, has renounced his high priced contract and climbed into the olive drab of an Ohio national guard company at Columbus.

About three weeks ago, when the Braves were playing at Cincinnati, Gowdy left the team for a day, went to Columbus, his home, and enlisted. He returned to the Braves, to await orders to join his unit.

The orders came while Gowdy was in Boston. He immediately went to camp.

To those who know Gowdy well his sacrifice of a large salary to respond to a call to the colors is not surprising.

Gowdy is one of the really big figures in baseball when the money-mad tactics of many of the athletes are considered.

To kiddies in Boston and Columbus he is known as a big, good-natured fellow who will stop to play with them on the streets.

In Columbus last winter he sold papers on the streets to help a charitable institution.

Baseball can well be proud of its first recruit.

By the order of the Board of Education of Hayes Special School District No. 21.
C. L. BURTON, Clerk.

Take the Rowdiness Out of Baseball

The favorite sport of some ball players these days seems to be walking over umpires.

The recent performance of Babe Ruth, who took a punch at Brick Owens and the disgraceful scene at Cincinnati in which John McGraw and Lord Byron starred is about enough of rough house tactics for this year. There was a time when mobbing an umpire was considered proper and just. There was a time in boxing when men sat at ringside with drawn revolvers menacing the referee.

These days have passed. The average baseball crowd wants plenty of pop. It may ride an umpire to death, but it doesn't care about the rough house stuff and won't stand for much of it.

Perhaps in some cases the umpire is blamable on account of bad decisions.

In that case it is the duty of the league president to take a hand, not for a ball player to assert his belligerency on the field.

There have been many complaints about umpires this year, particularly those in the National league. Some have been charged with incompetency and even with making players suffer for personal dislikes.

This condition should not be permitted to exist. Umpires who don't have good judgment or who permit outside conditions to influence their decisions should be immediately released.

Some managers have suggested that each league should have a chief of umpires who should go from city to city and watch the work of the arbiters and report to the league president.

These visits would be secret and the chief would be able to get a line on the work of the men under him.

It is evident that something of this sort should be done so far as umpires are concerned, and it is certainly necessary that such severe penalties be inflicted on players who resort to slugging umpires that the practice will die out.

LAVAN MAKES PLANS

Browns' Shortstop Will Hang Out Shingle as Physician.

able to Care for Injured Person With Gentleness That Would Amaze His Baseball Friends—Wife Also Versatile.

Johnny Lavan, the Browns' fast young shortstop, does not loaf in the winter season. Lavan realizes that there will come a day when he can no longer skip nimbly about the infield as he does today and he plans to be prepared for such a time. When he feels that he is no longer useful in the big leagues he will not die a lingering baseball death in the bushes. He will hang out a shingle and be a popular M. D.

Johnny is a graduate of the University of Michigan and there he got his medical degree. As soon as the baseball season comes to a close he puts aside his glove and gets busy with the pills. He is able to care for an injured patient with a gentleness that would amaze his baseball friends. He is said to be as expert in handling physical injuries as he is in handling hot grounders and the many who have

SUSPENSION OF BABE RUTH MAY KEEP RED SOX FROM 3 CONSECUTIVE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The indefinite suspension of Babe Ruth, putting a crimp into the Red Sox pitching staff, and cutting down their chances of setting a precedent and winning three consecutive world series.

At the opening of the season there was a very fair chance that they would do just this thing, but the superb drive of the White Sox indicated that the going would be pretty rough for Barry's crew before October.

Then along came Ruth's suspension. Ruth this year has won 11 games, almost one-third of the games the club had won up to that time. Take from a club a pitcher which is winning one-third of its games and the club is bound to suffer.

Jack Barry had ambitions this spring. Holding the managerial reins for the first time, this youngest pilot of the majors has dreamed of doing what Connie Mack and Frank Chance had never succeeded in doing, winning a third consecutive world championship with his ball club.

When the 1912 season opened it was considered a safe bet that Connie Mack would drive the Athletics through to another pennant in the American league and then demolish any National league club sent against them. But Connie couldn't produce and Jake Stahl won with the Red Sox.

The old Cubs won three National league championships in a row, but their defeat by the White Sox in 1906 prevented three world series championships.

The fate of the Red Sox depends a great deal upon Ruth. The drive in the American league right now presages a tremendous finish in September. The Yankees have been playing at a 890 clip since the first of June. The Tigers have gone along at a pace well above 700 since that time. The White Sox are playing consistent 650 ball. Boston will have to play at that rate at least to be in on the killing.

WOMEN IN HOMES CAN AID NATION

Not Necessary for Them to Abandon Domestic Duties, Says U. S. Official.

URGES THRIFT AS WATCHWORD

Secretary of Agriculture Houston Declares Housewife Should See That Nothing Nutritious Is Thrown Away.

How every woman, without leaving her home, can aid the nation in the direction of producing and conserving agricultural products, is told from the viewpoint of Uncle Sam in a statement of Secretary Houston says:

"Every woman can render important service to the nation in its present emergency. She need not leave her home or abandon her home duties to help the armed forces. She can help to feed and clothe our armies and help to supply food to those beyond the seas by practicing effective thrift in her own household.

"Every ounce of food the housewife saves from being wasted in her home—all food which she or her children produce in the garden and can or preserve—every garment which care and skillful repair make it unnecessary to replace—all these that household's draft on the already insufficient world supplies.

"To save food the housewife must learn to plan economical and properly balanced meals which, while nourishing each member of the family properly, do not encourage overeating or other excessive and wasteful variety. It is her duty to use all effective methods to protect food from spoilage by heat, dirt, mice, or insects. She must acquire the culinary ability to utilize every bit of edible food that comes into her home. She must learn to use such foods as vegetables, beans, peas, and milk products as partial substitutes for meat. She must make it her business to see that nothing nutritious is thrown away or allowed to be wasted.

No Waste Insignificant.

"Waste in any individual household may seem to be insignificant, but if only a single ounce of edible food, on the average, is allowed to spoil or be thrown away in each of our 20,000,000 homes, over 1,300,000 pounds of material would be wasted each day. It takes the fruit of many acres and the work of many people to raise, prepare, and distribute 444,000,000 pounds of food a year. Every ounce of food thrown away, therefore, tends also to waste the labor of an army of busy citizens.

"Clothing is largely an agricultural product and represents the results of labor on the sheep ranges, in cotton fields, and in mills and factories. Whenever a useful garment is needlessly discarded material needed to keep some one warm or dry may be consumed merely to gratify a passing fancy. Women need to do well to look upon clothing as a treasure, more particularly from the utilitarian point of view.

"Employed women, especially those engaged in the manufacture of food or clothing, also directly serve their country and should put into their tasks the enthusiasm and energy the importance of their product warrants.

Housewife's Apron a Uniform.

"While all honor is due to the women who leave their homes to nurse and care for those wounded in battle, no woman should feel that, because she does not wear a nurse's uniform, she is absolved from patriotic service. The home women of the country, if they will give their minds fully to this vital subject of food conservation and train themselves in household thrift, can make of the housewife's apron a uniform of national significance.

"Demonstrate thrift in your homes and encourage thrift among your neighbors.

"Make saving rather than spending your social standard.

"Make economy fashionable lest it become obligatory."

RAILROADS USING MORE OIL

Gain of 5,477,951 Barrels in 1916 Over Previous Year—Interesting Statistics Given.

A decided increase in the use of petroleum as locomotive fuel by the railroads of the United States in 1916 is shown by statistics compiled under the supervision of John D. Northrop and just published by the United States geological survey, department of the interior.

Reports submitted by 53 railroad companies, comprising all that operate oil-burning locomotives in the United States, show that the quantity of oil fuel so consumed last year was 42,126,417 barrels, a gain of 5,477,951 barrels, or 15 per cent, over the consumption in 1915.

This increase shows the steady expansion in the United States of the market for low-grade petroleum from Mexico rather than any appreciable increase in the use as fuel of low-gravity crude oils from domestic sources, whose value for refining is just beginning to be recognized.

The total distance covered by oil-burning engines in 1916 was 140,434,568 miles, and the average distance covered per barrel of fuel consumed was 3.33 miles. Oil-burning locomotives were operated in 1916 over 31,980 miles of track in 21 states.

VAST EARNINGS OF COUNTRY

Railroads Contribute $3,622,057,141 in 1916—Increase Is Seen for Current Year.

The magnitude of this country's activities and industries is impressively indicated in various annual reports and statements which have just been published for 1916. Here are the figures that briefly tell the story:

Total operating revenue of railroads, $3,622,057,141.

Volume of business of the United States Steel corporation, $1,231,473,778.

Total operating revenues of the Bell system, telephones, $284,600,000.

Gross earnings of national banks, $600,000,000.

When it is remembered, observes the Manufacturers' Record, that the railroad data included only railroads having annual revenues of $1,000,000 or more (although their gross earnings constitute 75 per cent of all in the United States) and that the bank statement does not include either banks with net charters or trust companies, the great totals loom up even more wonderfully.

And every one of these will probably show a larger totals at the end of the current year.

7,000 MINERS ON STRIKE IN COPPER ZONE

Globe, Ariz. July 5.—Rapid developments were expected today in the tense situation brought about in the Globe-Miami copper mining district by the strike of 7,000 miners belonging to the Metal Workers Industrial union, an I. W. O. organization and International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Serious clashes between mobs of striking miners and 300 armed citizens who cleared the streets yesterday were averted only by appeals of Governor Campbell to the miners and the guard to disperse. A long distance telephone message received today by Attorney General Jones from County Attorney Foster at Globe stated that the situation was entirely beyond control, and that United States troops from Douglas had been ordered to the scene on the recommendation of the commanding officer, who is on the ground representing the government. In his message to Attorney General Jones Mr. Foster stated there are at least 5,000 armed strikers and the entire armed force of citizen deputies is about 300.

Wilson Isn't Jarred by War; He's Fit As a Fiddle, Mingling Fun With Work

President Wilson snap-shotted while walking and while at his desk. Note the secret service men in the street scene.

By GILSON GARDNER.
Washington, July 5.—President Wilson has not been jarred by the war in health he never was better. He is up to date on his mail and appears less worried than at any time since he assumed the presidency. He gets up at 5:00 every morning and goes for a horseback ride with Mrs. Wilson. They go by motor to the old mill in Rock Creek park, where the horses are waiting, and after an hour or two of exercise return to the machine and ride back to the city for a bath and breakfast. By 8:30 he is ready for his mail. The president has adopted a new system in handling his personal mail—and much of his business is now distinctly personal. He goes to the office section of the White House only twice a week; then to attend cabinet meetings. At other times he does his work in the old residence part. He has set a tier of filing cases behind his desk and indexes and files everything himself. Perhaps during the war time this insures the keeping of important information until such time as it should be communicated. He has his typewriter in front of him on his desk and pecks away at it like a professor writing a history. His Flag Day speech was written on this machine and the original copy treasured by Secretary Tumulty in leather binding might be sent out as an advertisement by a typewriting firm. Appointments are made for both morning and afternoon, but most of the personal business occurs in the afternoon. Interviews at the White House are followed by frequent trips to the capitol, and it is not unusual for Mr. Wilson to run over to the war department or the federal trade commission's offices to see some man on business he wishes to straighten out at once. His visits to the capitol have become so frequent they no longer create surprise. The president has not given up golf. About every third day he goes to the Washington club and plays 11 holes. By reducing the number he cuts out a couple of miles of the course and saves an hour or so. Dr. Gr. is still his riding and golfing "buddy," and the long-suffering secret service men have had to add the equestrian art to that of riding motorcycles, driving automobiles and long distance hiking and running. About three evenings in the week the president goes out. One of these is sure to find him at the local vaudeville theatre, and another at some other theatre where there is a non-serious attraction. The serious in dramatics does not appeal to Mr. Wilson. He takes his serious drama from real life. Whenever Washington has had a stock company putting on the old favorites, as it has for a number of years, the president was sure to be there. He knows all the stock favorites and has had them as guests at the White House. Other evenings, when not dragged out to some official function, he works in his study writing state department communications, reports on the progress of the navy, confidentially communicated by the secretary, and writes state papers to be signed by Secretary Lansing. Any reports that Mr. Wilson is showing strain or wear under this life are misleading. He appears to be growing younger every day and never was in better physical form.

ENLISTMENTS TO BE REPORTED TO EXEMPTION BOARD

Charles Leissman of Adjutant General's Office Has Big Task on Hands

REPORTS SHOULD BE MAILED BEFORE JULY 7

The task of reporting to home precinct exemption boards the scores of enlistments which have been recorded in North Dakota since June 5 is today occupying the attention of Charles Leissman, to whom this division of labor in the adjutant general's office has been assigned. It is some job, Mr. Leissman reports. Several of the recruiting officers apparently have not been supplied with the cards provided for this particular report, and they are filing their enlistment in long typewritten lists, from which Mr. Leissman must separate the information that goes to the various individual boards. When this work is completed, the adjutant general's office will have a complete record of all enlistments in every branch of the service from this state. Twenty-seven county exemption boards have reported to Mr. Leissman their first meetings and organization for the important duties which they are to perform. All have acknowledged the receipt of blank forms and other supplies. Each board has received from E. H. Crowder, provost marshal general, advice to the effect that "it is an imperative, national necessity that the serially numbered copies of the cards shall be in the hands of the adjutant general of your state and that the copy of the list for the provost marshal shall be mailed before July 7. Every day lost now means a day lost in the organization of the armies of the United States." In North Dakota every effort is being made to comply with the provost marshal general's instructions. Some of the supplies, however, have been late in coming, the exemption boards have barely had time to organize, and some delay may be unavoidable.

AMERICAN CENSORS HOLD UP DISPATCHES PASSED IN EUROPE
Washington, July 5.—The war department here continues to censor news dispatches from France, which have been passed by foreign censors. It deflects incoming cablegrams at New York to Washington, where they are censored and turned over to representatives of the press associations and newspapers to whose New York offices the cable messages are addressed. The Associated Press' account of the Fourth of July celebration in Paris was among those delayed. Secretary Baker said last night the present arrangement is temporary and will be maintained "only so long as it is necessary to perfect a smooth working plan to handle this matter without imperiling the lives of American citizens." It is understood that George Creel is soon to visit New York to make some different arrangements. The press associations and the newspapers were notified in advance of Secretary Baker's plan of deflecting incoming cable messages to Washington and newspapers to whose New York offices the cable messages are addressed.

JACK OPERATED BY A CHAIN
Saves Motorist From Getting Under Car, Saving Hands and Clothing From Dirt and Grease.

Getting in underneath the car with a jack, when use of such an appliance is necessary, is often accompanied by getting the hands and clothing greasy and dirt-stained. Furthermore, some jack handles are likely to fly up, letting the car down with a bang and perhaps causing injury to the motorist. A new type is operated by a chain. When the jack is in place under the axle, hauling up the chain elevates the car. Pulling the other way lets the car down, and when the jack is no longer needed it can be drawn out from under the automobile, again by the chain. The Care of Azaleas.

As soon as azaleas have stopped blossoming set away in the dark and give a little water once in a while, not much. When summer comes put the pot in the ground out of doors and water well. A rather shady place is best. Take it before frost comes, and put in a cool room. Water very sparingly until near Christmas. If you report, cut away some of the branches. This will promote the growth and develop buds.

Rattles That Warn Of Lurking Danger

The rattle of your loose wheels is just as much a warning of danger as the rattle of the snake. The accident your wheels may cause is just as likely to be fatal as the strike of the reptile.

SPOKITE
Tightens and Silences Loose, Rattly Wheels

Heed the warning now! Apply Spokite at once and not only stop the rattle but prevent the possibility of collapsing wheels. A few drops squirted into the cracks caused by shrinkage of the wood will swell your wheels tight as new—and keep them tight.

Cheaper, Better, Quicker Than Old Way
The old, or mechanical, way does not prevent further shrinkage or swelling. The Spokite way does. The old way costs about $2.50 per wheel. Spokite tightens 4 wheels at $1.00. The old way keeps your vehicle idle half a day or more. Spokite tightens 4 wheels in an hour—and without the trouble of removing them. Thousands of wheels have been tightened the Spokite way and not a single case of failure has yet been found.

Don't Risk Your Life Any Longer
Every time you go out with loose wheels you take your life in your hands. A sharp turn, a curb joint, a sudden bump and—bang! Your wheels collapse, and perhaps in a most dangerous place.

"The Five Tires"

Lower Tire Cost Than Ever—NOW

For, in the old days, tires not only cost motorists more per tire, but were also so far inferior to the present product, that the final cost—the cost per mile—was from 50 to 100 or more per cent. higher than you pay now.
